Amelia Gibson

Ceramics

Amelia is a designer-maker specialising in ceramics, with a background in illustration and painting. Drawing from my years growing up in West Africa, she designs one-off sculptural ceramic vessels inspired by the familiar shapes, patterns and colours. Her practice is continually evolving through playful experimentation in different surface and hand-building techniques, with the aim to translate the rustic aesthetic onto smaller functional ware. Her work aims to celebrate the raw integrity and calming neutrals of the African bush.

There will be a price sheet alongside the work, and my details will be there for people to get in touch in order to purchase a piece. 1st piece: £555, 2nd piece: £472, 3rd piece: £622

Artist Bio

I'm a 2nd year student from DMU, studying Design Craft BA Hons.
