Handmade ceramics

Domo Ceramic Design

A selection of hand built ceramics in both stoneware and earthenware. (I might need to come back this depending on what you allow in the shop and space available!)

Artist Bio

I am a self-taught ceramic artist. Working originally in education I've always championed the arts and creativity in schools. Now I've discovered the joy of ceramics and have a small studio for creating functional and decorative pieces. I am inspired by historical and contemporary designs, particularly European tiles and art works, and a keen member of the V & A. I'd like to think I'm inspired by an eclectic mix of both modern and old print designs including folk patterns. I aim for perfect imperfections and celebrate every small inconsistency that the human hand brings to clay when you shape it. I make what makes me happy and hope it makes others happy too!
